

3rd Annual Washington State Global Issues Network Conference

Chief Sealth International High School
Seattle, Washington

Chief Sealth International High School in Seattle will host the 3rd annual Washington State Global Issues Network (WAGIN) Conference March 24-25. This international student-led conference on global issues will bring youth participants from around the world together for an exciting weekend of learning and action.

Join us in Seattle for the 2017 WAGIN Conference!

- All conference workshops are led by middle and high school students.
- A chance for students to learn alongside peers from other schools.
- Witness student action projects that address 20 different global issues.
- Hear from notable keynote speakers.

To learn more about WAGIN, please visit the 2017 conference website: www.wagin2017.org

Registration is a 2 step process:

Step 1: Conference Registration and Payment

Schools or organizations will register teams of 2-6 students online. Cost: $45 per student (covers all meals and programming). Full and partial scholarships are available. Registration closes February 17.

Step 2: Workshop and Film Festival Submission

See conference website for more details.

Questions? Please contact Noah Zeichner: nczeichner@seattleschools.org

